

It's All About the Reds!

Did you know most consultants average 1 new team member for every 5 sharing appointments?

Track your sharing appointments below to find your average and watch your team grow!

If you ask only one person per month you will probably recruit one every five months, or 2 recruits each year!

If you ask two people per week you will probably recruit one every 2 weeks, or 20 new business associates per year!

If you ask ten people each week you will recruit two every week, or 104 new business associates per year!

If you ask only one person per week you will probably recruit one every five weeks, or 10 new business associates per year!

If you ask five people each week you will probably recruit one every week, or fifty-two new team members per year!
